I. SUBMISSIONS

Defence Motion

1. The Defence submits that Rule 89(C), which provides that any relevant evidence may be admitted, is the general rule governing the admissibility of evidence.⁷ It submits that all of the 301 documents that were used during the examination-in-chief of the Accused, listed in Annex A of the Defence Motion, are relevant and should be admitted.⁸
2. In relation to the documents used by the Prosecution in cross-examination of the Accused, the Defence submits that only those parts of each document actually used in cross-examination can be admitted. The Defence contends that the remainder of those documents cannot be admitted “because the Accused had no opportunity to accept or challenge those passages.” However, where the Accused has been re-examined in relation to documents submitted by the Prosecution, the Defence accepts that such documents can be admitted in toto. In Annex B of the Defence Motion is a schedule of all documents submitted by the Prosecution together with the Defence observations on their admissibility.⁹ Defence objections to the admission of certain Prosecution documents will be considered in the context of the Defence Response.¹⁰

Prosecution Response

3. The Prosecution submits that, on the question of whether or not a document can be used in conjunction with a witness and tendered through that witness, the Appeals Chamber has held “the Trial Chamber in exercising its unfettered discretion under Rule 89(C) [...] must require the tendering party to lay a foundation of the witness’s competence to give evidence in relation to that document”.¹¹ It submits that the Appeals Chamber has “indicated” that this requirement is applicable both at the stage of the presentation of a document and at the stage of admissibility.¹² The Prosecution argues that the fact that a document has been used during the examination of the Accused does not automatically make it admissible if there is not sufficient foundation.¹³

¹² Prosecution Response, para. 5.

¹³ Prosecution Response, para. 6.

4. The Prosecution objects to the admission of a certain number of documents, listed in Annex 1 of the Prosecution Response, on the basis that the foundational requirement has not been met.¹⁴ It submits that there is insufficient foundation for the admission of a document through the Accused in circumstances where (i) his connection to the document is that it was part of his Presidential archive and he has simply read it; (ii) his connection to the document is that it was supplied to him by the Prosecution and he has simply read it or (iii) his connection to the document is that it was supplied to him by members of the Defence team including his investigators and he has simply read it.¹⁵ In particular, the Prosecution submits that, given the confusing and inconsistent testimony of the Accused with respect to what constitutes his Presidential archive, his claim that a document belonged to this archive is not always adequate to demonstrate a sufficient foundation for the admissibility of the document.¹⁶ The Prosecution also lists in Annex 1 documents sought to be admitted by the Defence that are already exhibits in this trial.¹⁷

5. The Prosecution has listed in Annex 2 of the Prosecution Response documents that it agrees can be admitted into evidence, notwithstanding the absence of a sufficient foundation with respect to some of these documents. Annex 2 also lists certain documents that the Prosecution claims lack relevance, but to which it does not object.¹⁸ The Prosecution also indicates that should it have “through administrative oversight, omitted to mention a Defence document in the attached Annex 1 and Annex 2, this may be taken to mean that there is no objection to their admission”.¹⁹

Reply to Prosecution Response

6. The Defence submits that the issue of proper foundation arises at the stage when the document is sought to be produced through the witness, and objections should be made at that stage, i.e. “the moment of production”.²⁰ The Defence claims that the Prosecution failed to do so in respect of all the documents listed in Annex 1 of the Prosecution Response and therefore submits that “the Prosecution’s objection, raised at this stage, is totally misplaced”, and that the only issue now to be determined is whether the document is relevant.²¹

Prosecution Motion

7. The Prosecution submits that as it was precluded from using any fresh evidence that might be probative of guilt, even for impeachment purposes only, during the cross-examination of the Accused, the “exceptional circumstances” test needed to be established for admission does not apply.²² The Prosecution says that “all the documents or portions of documents now put forward for admission were allowed to be used only to impeach the credibility of the Accused.” Therefore, according to the Prosecution, the only test to be applied for admission is one of relevance as provided in Rule 89(C). The documents tendered for admission in this category are relevant to challenge the credibility of the Accused and his evidence as set out in Annex 1 of the Prosecution Motion.²³

8. The Prosecution further submits that during re-examination, the Defence presented to the Accused several documents that had been marked for identification during his cross-examination, and in certain instances, used portions of these documents additional to those portions used by the Prosecution in its cross-examination. The Prosecution submits that the portions of the documents used by the Defence, as listed in Annex 1, should be admitted into evidence on the basis of their relevance.²⁴

9. Finally, the Prosecution argues that certain documents or portions of documents used by the Defence during the examination-in-chief, as listed in Annex 3, are relevant and should be admitted. If the Defence requests that the same documents or portions of document be admitted, the Prosecution submits that it may be taken to have agreed that these documents or portions of documents are admissible.²⁵ The Prosecution requests that the Defence be ordered to provide copies of the missing pages of MFI-70 and MFI-82.²⁶

Defence Response

10. The Defence submits that it does not object to the admission into evidence of any of the documents used during cross-examination, “where the relevance and hence admissibility of the document is for the sole purpose of challenging the credibility of the Accused and his evidence”.²⁷ However, it submits that despite the Prosecution’s assertion that it is not tendering any of the documents it used during cross-examination as probative of guilt, but only to challenge the credibility of the Accused, the Prosecution adopts language which suggests that the purpose sought for the admission of certain documents goes beyond the sole purpose of impeachment “but also implicates guilt”.²⁸ The Defence submits that the Prosecution should be required to establish the “exceptional circumstances” which justify the admission of these documents, as set out in the Trial Chamber’s Decision on Documents.²⁹

11. The Defence further states that, “save for a request for further and better particulars in relation to certain documents”, it does not object to the admission of the remainder of the documents used by the Prosecution during cross-examination.³⁰ The specific requests for further particulars are listed in Annex B to the Defence Motion.

Reply to Defence Response

12. The Prosecution submits that all documents which it was allowed to use during the cross-examination of the Accused were allowed for impeachment purposes only and that none was found to be probative of guilt. It argues that it seeks admission of the documents for impeachment purposes only, and any interpretation of the language used in Annex 1 suggesting relevance to guilt should be disregarded. The Prosecution submits that the “exceptional circumstances” test therefore does not apply to the documents objected to by the Defence.³¹

II. APPLICABLE LAW

13. Rule 26*bis* provides:

Rule 26*bis*: The Chambers

The Trial Chamber and the Appeals Chamber shall ensure that a trial is fair and expeditious and that proceedings before the Special Court are conducted in accordance with the Agreement, the Statute and the Rules, with full respect for the rights of the accused and due regard for the protection of victims and witnesses.

14. Rule 85 which governs presentation of evidence at the trial provides:

²⁸ Defence Response, paras 6-7, referring to MFL-334(C), MFL-334(I) and J, MFL-334(L), MFL-337, MFL-345, MFL-346, MFL-347, MFL-348 and MFL-370.

²⁹ Defence Response, paras 4, 9.

³⁰ Defence Response, para. 5.

³¹ Reply to Defence Response, para. 3.

Rule 85: Presentation of Evidence:

(A) Each party is entitled to call witnesses and to present evidence. Unless otherwise directed by the Trial Chamber in the interest of justice, evidence at the trial shall be presented in the following sequence:

- (i) Evidence for the prosecution;
- (ii) Evidence for the defence;
- (iii) Prosecution evidence in rebuttal, with leave of the Trial Chamber;
- (iv) Evidence ordered by the Trial Chamber.

(B) Examination-in-chief, cross-examination and re-examination shall be allowed in each case. It shall be for the party calling a witness to examine him in chief, but a judge may at any stage put any question to the witness.

(C) The accused may, if he so desires, appear as a witness in his own defence. If he chooses to do so, he shall give his evidence under oath or affirmation and, as the case may be, thereafter, call his witnesses.

(D) Evidence may be given directly in court, or via such communication media, including video, closed circuit television, as the Trial Chamber may order.

15. Rule 89 provides:

Rule 89: General Provisions

- (A) The rules of evidence set forth in this Section shall govern the proceedings before the Chambers. The Chambers shall not be bound by national rules of evidence.
- (B) In cases not otherwise provided for in this Section, a Chamber shall apply rules of evidence which will best favour a fair determination of the matter before it and are consonant with the spirit of the Statute and the general principles of law.
- (C) A Chamber may admit any relevant evidence.

16. Rule 90 (F) provides:

Rule 90: Testimony of Witnesses

- (F) The Trial Chamber shall exercise control over the mode and order of interrogating witnesses and presenting evidence so as to:
 - (i) Make the interrogation and presentation effective for the ascertainment of the truth; and
 - (ii) Avoid the wasting of time.

Jul

17. The general principle that the prosecution must present all of its evidence during its case-in-chief has been repeatedly upheld by the International Criminal Tribunals.³² Indeed this Court in upholding this principle has previously held that:

*[e]vidence which goes to a matter that forms a fundamental part of the case which the Prosecution is required to prove in relation to the charges brought in the Indictment should be brought as part of the Prosecution case-in-chief and not in rebuttal. The Prosecution is under a duty to adduce all the evidence critical to proving the guilt of an accused in its case-in-chief, and only if a new issue is raised in the course of the Defence case may the Prosecution lead evidence in rebuttal.*³³ [emphasis added]

18. Interpreting the provisions of Rule 85(A)(i) of the ICTR Rules of Procedure and Evidence, which is identical – in all relevant respects – to Rule 85(A) of the SCSL Rules, the ICTR Trial Chamber held as follows:

Rule 85 (A)(i) [...] prescribes that ‘the trial shall be presented in the following sequence: (i) Evidence of the prosecution; (ii) Evidence for the defence; (iii) Prosecution evidence in rebuttal; (iv) Defence evidence in rejoinder’ *This sequence implies that the Defence may reasonably infer that matters on which no evidence was led during the Prosecution case do not form part of that case.*³⁴ [emphasis added]

19. Moreover, as is apparent from the applicable law cited above, Rule 85(A) provides very clearly that, with the exception of prosecution evidence in rebuttal – which may be led with leave of the Trial Chamber – the evidence for the prosecution must precede the evidence for the defence.

20. The Trial Chamber has previously held that fresh evidence impeaching the credit of the Accused may in the Chamber’s discretion be admitted on a case by case basis but that documents containing fresh evidence that is probative of guilt will not be admitted into evidence unless the Prosecution can establish “exceptional circumstances”. In considering whether such exceptional circumstances have been established, the Trial Chamber will take into consideration (i) when and by which means the Prosecution obtained these documents, (ii) when it disclosed them to the Defence and (iii) why they are being offered only after the conclusion of the Prosecution case.³⁵

III. DELIBERATIONS

1) Documents not in Dispute:

a) Documents tendered by the Defence:

21. The Defence tendered for admission into evidence, a total of 480 documents (including photographs) as listed in Annex A to the Defence Motion, which documents were introduced through the Accused during his examination-in-chief and marked for identification (“Defence documents”).³⁶ The Prosecution does not object to the admission into evidence of 232 of those documents, as listed in the first part of Annex 2 of the Prosecution Response.³⁷ Furthermore, the Prosecution does not object to the admission of a further 94 Defence documents listed in the second part of Annex 2, but submits that these documents lack relevance.³⁸ Furthermore, the Prosecution submits that the documents marked for identification as MFI-81 and MFI-242 are virtually one and the same document³⁹ except that MFI-242 contains a cover sheet, while MFI-81 does not. The Trial Chamber agrees with the Prosecution’s observation and holds that only MFI-242 should be admitted in evidence. Furthermore, the Trial Chamber notes that the document listed as MFI-114 is already admitted in evidence as Defence Exhibit D-77 and need not be re-admitted.

22. The Trial Chamber finds that all the documents listed in Annex 2 of the Prosecution Response, are relevant, and with the exception of MFI-81 and MFI-114, admits them into evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C). In cases where only portions of a document were marked for identification, only those portions are admitted into evidence as shown in the Annex to this Decision.

23. The Trial Chamber notes that there are two Defence documents not listed in either Annex 1 or Annex 2 of the Prosecution Response, namely MFI-51 and MFI-164. The Trial Chamber notes the Prosecution submission however, that “should it have through administrative oversight, omitted to mention a Defence document in the attached Annex 1 and Annex 2, this may be taken to mean that there is no objection to its admission”.⁴⁰ The Trial Chamber finds therefore that the Prosecution does not object to the admission into evidence of MFI-51 and MFI-164 and that the documents are relevant. The Trial Chamber admits the two documents into evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C) as indicated in the Annex to this Decision.

³⁷ Prosecution Response, paras 3 and 11. The Trial Chamber notes that although the Prosecution listed in Annex 2 of the Prosecution Response 233 Defence documents that it does not object to, that list in fact consists of 232 documents, as document MFI-228 is listed twice.

⁴⁰ Prosecution Response, para. 13.

b) Documents tendered by the Prosecution:

24. The Prosecution tendered for admission into evidence, after the close of its case, a total of 141 new documents (including photographs) as listed in Annex 1 to the Prosecution Motion, which documents were introduced during cross-examination of the Accused and marked for identification (“Prosecution documents”).⁴¹ The Prosecution submits that it seeks to tender into evidence the portions of each document used during cross-examination as well as the portion of the same document used by the Defence during re-examination of the Accused.⁴² Copies of the said documents as marked are contained in Annex 2 to the Prosecution Motion.⁴³ The Prosecution further submits that it wishes to tender these documents into evidence “for the sole purpose of impeaching the credibility of the Accused”.⁴⁴

25. The Defence submits that generally it “does not object to the admission into evidence of any of the documents used during cross-examination, where the relevance and admissibility of the document is for the sole purpose of challenging the credibility of the Accused”.⁴⁵ The Defence indicates that it does not object to the admission into evidence of 128 of the Prosecution documents, which documents the Defence submits, do not go beyond the sole purpose of impeachment.⁴⁶ The Trial Chamber notes however, that seven of the 124 documents listed in Annex B to the Defence Motion to which the Defence “does not object” namely, MFI-319A, MFI-319B, MFI-319C, MFI-334A, MFI-334G, MFI-336 and MFI-405, have in fact not been tendered for admission into evidence by the Prosecution. The Trial Chamber has accordingly not addressed these documents in this Decision.

26. The Trial Chamber finds that the 121 documents tendered by the Prosecution and not objected to by the Defence are relevant and do not contain material that goes to proof of the guilt of the Accused. The Trial Chamber admits these documents in evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C). In cases where only portions of a document were used by the Prosecution in cross-examination or by the Defence in re-examination of the Accused, only those portions are admitted into evidence as shown in the Annex to this Decision.

⁴² Prosecution Motion, paras 2-3, 9-10.

⁴³ Ibid., para. 3.

⁴⁴ Ibid., paras 5-8.

⁴⁵ Defence Response, para. 3.

⁴⁶ In Annex B to the Defence Motion, the Defence lists 138 documents to which it does not object. However, in the Defence Response to the Prosecution Motion, it indicates that it objects to 10 documents on the basis that the test of “exceptional circumstances” must be met. Defence Response, paras 4, 9.

2) Documents in Dispute:

a) Objections based on lack of foundation:

27. The Prosecution submits that insufficient foundation has been laid for the admission of a certain number of Defence documents, listed in Annex 1,⁴⁷ arguing that “the fact that the Trial Chamber allowed a document to be used during the testimony of the Accused does not mean that there is sufficient foundation for its admission”.⁴⁸ In support of its argument the Prosecution cites the following Appeals Chamber Decision:

Undoubtedly, the Trial Chamber in exercising its unfettered discretion under Rule 89(C) (“may admit any relevant evidence”) as to whether or not the proposed evidence is relevant, cannot properly do so in thin air. When determining the relevance of a document, the Trial Chamber must require the tendering party to lay a foundation of the witness’s competence to give evidence in relation to that document.⁴⁹

28. The Defence argues that “the issue of proper foundation arises at the stage when the document is sought to be produced through the witness” and not at the stage of tender of the document.⁵⁰

29. The Trial Chamber finds no merit in the Prosecution objection and agrees with the Defence that issues relating to “foundation” are properly dealt with before a document is presented to a witness. Once a document has been shown to a witness and the witness has testified in relation thereto, a party cannot thereafter raise issues of “foundation” to oppose its admission into evidence. In this regard, the Trial Chamber disagrees with the Prosecution’s interpretation of the Appeal Chamber’s Decision cited above as “indicating that the question of a sufficient foundation was significant both at the stage of presenting a document and at the admissibility stage.”⁵¹ The Trial Chamber holds that documents MFI-7, MFI-11, MFI-13, MFI-26, MFI-98, MFI-149, MFI-163, MFI-198, MFI-221, MFI-222, MFI-227, MFI-236, MFI-243, MFI-245, MFI-248, MFI-249, MFI-252, MFI-257A, MFI-257B, MFI-258, MFI-275, MFI-277, MFI-278, MFI-279, MFI-281, MFI-282, MFI-283, MFI-284, MFI-293 and MFI-300 are relevant, and are admitted in evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C) as shown in the Annex to this Decision.

⁴⁷ MFI-7, MFI-11, MFI-13, MFI-26, MFI-98, MFI-149, MFI-163, MFI-198, MFI-221, MFI-222, MFI-227, MFI-236, MFI-243, MFI-245, MFI-248, MFI-249, MFI-252, MFI-257A and B, MFI-258, MFI-275, MFI-277, MFI-278, MFI-279, MFI-281, MFI-282, MFI-283, MFI-284, MFI-293 and MFI-300.

b) Objections based on missing pages in certain documents:

30. With respect to the Prosecution request that the Defence provide the missing pages of MFI-70 and MFI-82 before the documents can be admitted in evidence,⁵² the Trial Chamber recalls that when MFI-70 was marked for identification during Mr. Taylor's examination-in-chief, the Prosecution asked at that time for the production of missing pages 8 and 9, and the Defence indicated that those pages constituted an attachment that was not in its possession.⁵³ Similarly, at the time that MFI-82 was marked for identification, the Prosecution noted that pages 5 to 9 were missing and asked for their production, but the Defence explained that the missing pages were not in its possession.⁵⁴ The Trial Chamber accepts that the Defence cannot produce what it does not have in its possession and notes that in any event, the Defence has not sought to include the missing pages as part of the documents tendered for admission. Accordingly the Trial Chamber finds that Defence documents MFI-70 and MFI-82 as tendered are relevant and are admitted into evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C) as shown in the Annex to this Decision.

c) Objections based on lack of proof of "exceptional circumstances":

31. The Defence has objected to the admission into evidence of Prosecution documents MFI-334(C), MFI-334(I), MFI-334(J), MFI-334(L), MFI-337, MFI-345, MFI-346, MFI-347, MFI-348 and MFI-370 on the grounds that they contain material that is probative of guilt. The Defence submits that the Prosecution must prove the existence of "exceptional circumstances" in relation to these documents as required by the Trial Chamber in its Decision on Documents.⁵⁵ The Prosecution submits that none of those documents used by the Prosecution was found to be probative of guilt and that it seeks admission of the documents "for impeachment purposes only".⁵⁶

32. The Trial Chamber reiterates its holding that Prosecution fresh evidence impeaching the credit of the Accused may in the Chamber's discretion be admitted on a case by case basis but that documents containing fresh evidence that is probative of guilt will not be admitted into evidence unless the Prosecution can establish "exceptional circumstances".⁵⁷

33. The Trial Chamber finds that passages sought to be tendered in Documents MFI-334(C), MFI-334(L) and MFI-337 are not probative of guilt and are relevant. These documents are admitted into evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C) as shown in the Annex to this Decision. The Trial Chamber finds however, that the passages sought to be tendered in documents MFI-334(I), MFI-334(J), MFI-345, MFI-346, MFI-347, MFI-348 and MFI-370 are probative of guilt and that the Prosecution has not established “exceptional circumstances” with regard to each of those documents. Accordingly, those documents are not admitted into evidence.

d) Objections based on a request for “further and better particulars”:

34. The Defence has indicated that it does not object to the admission into evidence of several Prosecution documents, subject to additional information being provided by the Prosecution. With respect to MFI-303A and MFI-303B, consisting of portions of a document entitled “An Act Adopting New Aliens and Nationality Law”, the Defence submits that those portions are admissible “subject to proof of when the Act became applicable”.⁵⁸ With respect to MFI-304, which is a transcript of a Star Radio Report dated 28 August 2006, and MFI-320B, which is the transcript of a BBC interview by Mary Harper with Charles Taylor, the Defence submits that each of those documents is admissible “subject to proof of who created the transcript”.⁵⁹

35. The Trial Chamber is of the view that the Defence concerns relate to the weight, rather than the admissibility of those documents. The Trial Chamber therefore finds that Prosecution documents MFI-303A, MFI-303B, MFI-304, and MFI-320B are relevant and do not contain material that goes to proof of the guilt of the Accused. The documents are admitted into evidence pursuant to Rule 89(C) as shown in the Annex to this Decision.

3) Documents that have already been admitted in evidence:
